MARGIN WON BY RADICAL; OTHERS FAIL

Upton Sinclair's Nomination Causes Concern in Capital

BILBO, BLEASE TRIAL

Three Cornered Race Promised on Coast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The much-debated question as to how much "left" sentiment there is among the Democratic rank and file of the country seemed pretty well answered today as a result of yesterday's primary elections.

There is a lot of it. Upton Sinclair's easy capture of the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in California, and by really impressive figures, gave the old-line conservative Democrats here something of a shock. The erstwhile socialist and radical pamphlet writer literally walked away from his conservative opposition.

TWO OTHERS CLOSE
In Mississippi, ex-Gov. Bilbo, who promised to "raise more hell than Huey Long" if Mississippi

TO VISIT ROOSEVELT
PASADENA, Cal., Aug. 29.—Asserting that his nomination was a "Victory for the New Deal," Upton Sinclair prepared today to leave for Washington to confer with President Roosevelt, his supporters announced. Late election returns continued to pile up an enormous majority for him as Democratic nominee for governor of California.

Sinclair probably will leave by plane, a spokesman said. The object of his trip, it was stated, will be to explain his "Epic Plan" to the President.

Tariff Stagnation

The status of the reciprocity situation briefly is this:

Francis Sayre, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of tariff negotiations, is in Europe on vacation, has been there most of the summer.

Dr. Herbert Feis, Economic Adviser of the State Department, also is in Europe on vacation, has been there most of the summer.

An elaborate machine for the negotiations of tariff treaties has been created but appears too top-heavy to function.

Eleven countries have sent their representatives to the State Department—Spain, Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Bolivia, Peru, Portugal, Sweden, Norway, Italy, Argentina—to ask for reciprocity treaties, without result. The United States, they were told, was not ready.

The Spanish Ambassador, Don Luis Calderon, was appointed to Washington because of his expert commercial knowledge. He has called upon Secretary Hull many times. He has offered him a reduction of Spanish tariff rates on American automobiles, machinery, cotton, sausage casings, fertilizer and certain kinds of tobacco, provided the United States would lower its duties on Spanish wines and certain fruits. Mr. Hull was polite but evasive. Stagnation has been almost complete.

Stagnation Reasons

Reasons for this are threefold: 1. There is a split within the Administration on tariff matters. 2. There is no driving force within the State Department to whip tariff treaties into shape. 3. In some cases it is feared that tariff treaties negotiated during a Congressional election may react against the Administration in November.

This is definitely the case with Argentina. Its commodities are agricultural, would compete with the Midwest farm belt, and an Argentine treaty is considered political dynamite at present.

But with most countries, the issue goes far deeper. It results in part from long-smouldering feuds within the New Deal. One feud is between Professor Moley and Cordell Hull. Another is between Hull and George Peck.

Moley is bitterly opposed to tariff reciprocity partly as a matter of principle, partly because of his antipathy for Cordell Hull. Moreover, Moley still has power within the Administration. He has vigorously attacked reciprocity in his magazine, "Today." His ex-accident, Arthur Mullen, Jr., son of Nebraska's ex-National Committee man, is in the Import-Export Bank. Mullen is assistant to George Peck. Another assistant is John L. Coulter, former high tariff member of the Tariff Commission.

Claypool Wins, But Also Loses

Again Chosen Head of Ross-Co Committee But Loses State Position.

Garrett S. Claypool, of Chillicothe, Democratic state central committee man from the 11th Ohio district, including Pickaway-co, has tasted the pills of victory and defeat in the same week.

Monday evening at a meeting of the Ross-co Democratic central committee, his forces ran roughshod over his bitter opponent Senator James E. Ford's cohorts and (Continued on Page Two)

RADER'S STOCK BARN LEVELED

Flames Destroy Building Wednesday Morning; Other Buildings Saved.

A huge stock barn, the largest building on the farm of Burr Rader, Pickaway-twp., county commissioner, was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight Tuesday. The cause of the conflagration has not been determined; neither has the loss been estimated.

Awakened by a passing motorist who discovered the flames about 12:30 a. m. Wednesday, the Rader family summoned the local fire department and asked the operator on duty in the Citizens Telephone Co. exchange to notify neighbors. The local department's engine sped to the scene, south of the city on the Scioto trail, and many neighbors hurried to the home.

The flames had made much headway before they were discovered and all efforts of the fire fighters were turned toward saving other buildings. Although several were scorched, none caught fire. All other buildings except one is covered by galvanized roofing adding to their protection.

A quantity of hay and a wagon were destroyed in the big barn, which was insured. The barn was in excellent condition. It was rebuilt 12 years ago after being leveled by a cyclone which spread destruction through that section of the county. No stock was burned in the flames.

The Rader family today extended thanks to the local fire department and to the neighbors who helped prevent the spread of the flames.

FORCE GIRLS DOWN

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Magne trouble forced Jean LaRene and Mary Owens, Texas flyers, to end their endurance flight in the 114th hour, an examination of their plane the Texan showed today.

Smoke filled the monoplane when the girl flyers brought it to a landing at Curtiss-Reynolds airport at 4:15 p. m. yesterday. They were attempting to break the 240 hour women's endurance flight record.

English Screen Star, Ralph Forbes Elopes

Hollywood Surprised as Ruth Chatterton's Former Husband Leaves for Yuma

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.—Heather Angel, young English actress, and Ralph Forbes, also a native English actor, and former husband of Ruth Chatterton, the star, left by automobile early today for Yuma, Ariz., where they announced they would be married. The elopement surprised Hollywood.

They were speeded on their way by "Pat" Patterson, also an English actress, who recently eloped to Yuma and married Charles Boyer, French film player.

Miss Angel and Forbes said they would be married as soon as they arrived in Yuma and would return to Hollywood immediately.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Franklin Sowers, 216 W. Mount-st., was to undergo a major operation at Berger hospital, Wednesday afternoon.

Wagon Builder, Veteran Party Leader, Takes Weiler's Place at Helm of New Organization; First Chairman Resigns; New Names Added to Committee.

James A. McLaughlin, well known S. Scioto-st wagon builder, was elected president of the Pickaway-co Democratic club to succeed Ernie W. Weiler, this city, resigned, at a meeting of the organization in the council chamber Tuesday evening.

Mr. Weiler submitted his resignation soon after he called the meeting, attended by 35 Democrats, to order, stating that because of other pressing duties he would no longer be able to serve. The club then moved unanimously to name Mr. McLaughlin in Weiler's place.

BECOMES ACTIVE HEAD
A veteran in Democratic politics here for a number of years, McLaughlin is expected to be an active head for the club which is just getting its start in preparation for the coming campaign. In accepting the job, he said:

"A club of this kind can be very worth while to the Democratic ticket. There is no reason why we can't elect the entire ticket from top to bottom if we work co-operatively and efficiently."

A number of county Democrats attending a meeting of the club for the first time were highly enthusiastic about the organization. All of them expressed 100 per cent loyalty to the party in November. Leaders of the group expressed deep concern over the apparent lack of interest on the part of county Democratic candidates to attend the club's meetings. There were only two candidates present at last night's gathering. One of them declared: "The candidates certainly can't expect an organization of this kind to get back of them if they don't first show an interest by attending meetings."

MEET EACH WEEK
The club adopted a constitution prepared by a committee composed of Mayor W. B. Cady, Safety Director L. T. Shaner, and R. G. (Continued on Page Two)

WAR SCARE HITS EUROPE

Report Germany, Yugoslavia To Attack Austria, Italy; Is Denied.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A sensational new "war scare" story reporting Germany and Yugoslavia as conspiring against Italy and Austria, reached London today through the medium of the Exchange Telegraph company.

The story, credited to the reichspost of Vienna, an official government publication, was immediately denied by a representative of one of the nations concerned, but nevertheless created keen interest here.

In brief, the story asserts that Germany and Yugoslavia intend to make war on Italy and then despoil Austria of considerable territory.

Acts to Avert Strike

Although the county commissioners acting as the board of the aged have approved 222 Pickaway-co applications for old age pensions, only 46 have been approved by the state department to date, T. D. Krinn, administrator, said today.

The second payment of pensions is to be made Sept. 1. A total of 661 applications were received at the auditor's office although 22 have been withdrawn in the meantime.

Rotarians are planning to travel Thursday evening to S. G. Rader's camp in Pike-co. Chicken, watermelon and all the trimmings will be served.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Behind the massive gray-stone walls of Pennsylvania's Eastern penitentiary at Cherry Hill lurked the monster of revolt today.

An ominous lull fell over the century-old bastille in the wake of a fresh uprising which was accompanied by the terrifying peril of fire.

DEMOCRATS GIVE POWER TO NOMINEE

Davey's Slate Approved With Unruffled Surface by Leaders

SAWYER TO ASSIST

Poulson Succeeds Watson as Ohio 'Chief'

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—Organized under the banner of Martin L. Davey of Kent, gubernatorial nominee, chieftains of the Democratic party in the state returned to their local posts today prepared to wage a vigorous campaign toward the November election.

The issue of the forthcoming campaign was clearly directed here yesterday by Davey in opening the organization meeting of the Democratic state central committee. The issue will be, Davey declared, "acceptance or rejection of the New Deal." He predicted that "we will send word to Wall Street that Ohio, a pivotal state, is united in support of that great humanitarian president in Washington."

"FOLLOW LEADER"
Davey's slate, or preference of officers in the central committee organization were elected unanimously yesterday over a calm and unruffled surface.

Earl H. Hanefeld, state director of agriculture, was re-elected chairman of the central committee, and Mrs. Anna Makely of Dayton, was named his secretary. Joseph Heffernan of Youngstown, was elected vice chairman, and Elizabeth Nector of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Harriet Sharp of Millersburg, were chosen vice-chairwomen. W. B. Francis of Martins Ferry, a state civil service commissioner, was made treasurer.

The all-important chairmanship of the executive committee went to Francis Poulson, Cleveland attorney. Poulson, by virtue of his post, will direct the forthcoming election campaign.

James W. Hoffman, son-in-law of former governor Vic Donahey, the party's senatorial nominee, was appointed vice-chairman. Miss Myrna Smith, Davey's personal secretary, was named secretary at (Continued on Page Two)

'OFFICIAL' DAY AT STATE FAIR

Largest Crowd of Week Expected As Weather Continues Perfect.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—With the Ohio State Fair swinging into the half-way period today, fair officials were planning for the biggest crowd so far this year.

Wednesday is always the big day of fair week, as far as attendance is concerned, and careful methods of handling the crowd will be in force, including more strict rules on autos allowed inside the grounds on passes.

Two girls were knocked down but were uninjured yesterday when hit by a truck, and officials are trying to make certain that no serious accidents will occur inside the grounds.

Today has been set aside as county officials day, with county commissioners, engineers, township trustees and clerks being the guests of Earl H. Hanefeld, head of the state agriculture department, and Charles M. Beer, fair manager.

Fishermen from all over the state have entered in the bait casting tournament to be staged on the banks of East Lake in the grounds.

Horse and sheep judgments were on the morning program, with weight pulling events for heavy-weight teams near noon. Air brush painting, pottery making and firing, and the canary show are features planned for women attending the fair.

Forty-six teachers in Circleville city schools today had received assignments from Supt. E. L. Daley and were to receive salary contracts from R. G. Colville, clerk of the board of education.

Meeting in regular session Tuesday evening, the board fixed salaries for the instructors and approved the list of assignments submitted by Supt. Daley.

Practically no changes were made in the salary schedules, so the monthly payroll will remain at the same figure it was last year, it was said. This payroll approximates $4,800, according to Mr. Colville, clerk of the board.

Several teachers are transferred in this year's assignment, it is disclosed.

The determination of teachers' salaries alleviates much concern both on the part of the instructors and the board of education. The city schools are assured of operation until January and it is believed that the legislature will have worked out some suitable program for their continuance by that time.

Increased enrollment at Circleville high school this year is necessitating the employment of another teacher there. The board is expected to meet Friday to hire this instructor.

Roy H. Bowen, of Canal Winchester, has been employed to succeed E. K. Fournier, who resigned to accept a position in the Mansfield schools, and with this exception and the employment of the new teacher, the high school teaching setup will remain the same as last year.

PRINCIPALS SAME
There are no changes in principals of the four elementary schools, although several changes of teachers are noted. These include Miss Marguerite Fohl from Franklin-st fifth grade to the same grade at Corwin-st; Miss Margaret Brennan from the Corwin-st fifth grade to the Franklin-st sixth grade, and Miss Hazel Palm from Corwin-st sixth grade to the seventh grade in the same school.

Four new elementary teachers employed by the board during the summer are assigned as follows: Miss Helen Yates to the second grade at High-st replacing Mrs. Peter Bernard, the former Grace Steele, resigned; Miss Helen Keller to Corwin-st fourth grade replacing Mrs. Avery Eichinger, the former Mildred Barthelmas, resigned; and Miss Frances Mettner and Miss Rebecca Gordon to two additional grades at Walnut-st.

It is noted that there will be two divisions of the sixth grade at Franklin-st school this year instead of two fifth grades in operation last year. There will also be four divisions of the seventh grade at Corwin-st compared with three last year, and one sixth grade class instead of two at this same school.

All the city schools will open at 8:30 a. m. Monday, Sept. 10. The complete assignment of city teachers and subjects of grades they teach follows:

HIGH SCHOOL
E. I. Gephart, principal; C. F. # OILS WIN TITLE!

Capture Third In Series Play

The Circleville Oils, backed by Glenn I. Nickerson and managed by George Crum and George Dudley Courtwright, won the city softball championship Tuesday evening defeating the Container Corporation in the third consecutive game of a three-out-of-five series.

The score was 10 to 3 with the Oils clinching the game in the seventh inning with six runs. They led 4 to 2 at the time with the straw-board threatening in almost every inning to overcome the lead. With the six runs, however, the game and series were ended.

The Oils won the first game of the play off last evening, 6-2; took the second Monday evening, 5-1, then ended the series Tuesday with their 10-3 victory.

PURCELL WINS CREDIT

To Carl Purcell must go the greatest part of the honor for the title. The tall right hander who often hits better than he pitches gave the straw-boarders a total of 19 hits in the three games, six and one-third per contest. His best performance was Monday night when he was touched only four times by his mates cutting off other bids.

The Oils wasted no time in getting to work Tuesday evening counting three markers in the opening frame. Steele and Merriam singled, Purcell doubled and Walker singled with Purcell scoring on White's infield out. Another was counted in the second when W. Brungs was unable to hold Geib's fly ball going for a two base error. The runner advanced on Moore's fly to the same place, being caught, then scored on a passed ball.

CAUGHT AT THIRD

The straw-board scored its first run in the third on an error and a double. With two out Geib dopped Steele's throw to get G. Brungs. Whaley promptly doubled to left field scoring Brungs but Steele threw the runner out when he tried to take third.

TRAVELER 9 OWNS GOOD SEASON MARK

D. Johnson or W. Jones To Hurl Against Bloomingburg Outfit, Sunday.

With the regular softball season ended, Circleville baseball fans will have a chance to witness the Circleville Travelers play their first home game on the recreation field Sunday against Bloomingburg.

The Travelers with members of the Given Oil Co. softball team filling the lineup have played 11 games on the road this year winning six and losing five.

The Bloomingburg team has twice beaten the Travelers this year both times by one run in extra innings games.

Squirrel Jones, manager of the Travelers intends to bring three fast colored teams here during the remainder of the season.

The balance of the schedule includes Chillicothe here, Sept. 9, Washington C. H. here Sept. 16 and Zanesville there Sept. 23.

The probable lineup for Sunday's game is: M. Johnson, 1b; John Lewis, 2b; Jay Henry, Sr., ss; Squirrel Jones, 3b; Jay Henry, Jr., rf; Dink Harrison, cf; Hill R. Coleman, lf; W. Jones or Jackson, c; D. Johnson or W. Jones, p.

Another straw-board run came in the fourth when W. Brungs drove a long triple to right center. White's fast relay of the ball held him on third. Stevens popped out but Hegele's fly to center scored the runner.

That ended the scoring until the seventh when the Oils sewed up the title. Robinson and Geib singled. Moore doubled. Steele was safe on Trimmer's error. Merriam singled, so did Purcell, and Walker doubled before a runner was retired. Then White, Barnes and Robinson were out.

The final run of the game came in the straw-board eighth with Hegele and Trimmer being safe on errors, the former scoring on the last misplay.

WALKER HITS THREE

The Oils obtained 14 hits off Bill Hegele's tosses, one triple and four doubles while the straw-board's eight hits one was a triple and two doubles. Art Walker, brilliant Oil third sacker, clubbed three bingles one going for two bases. The Oils, however, outscored the losers six to three but three double plays helped remove this advantage. One of them came in the first inning with two on base and no one out. Walker snagged a hot grounder, touched third and whipped the ball to Merriam for the pair. Had Ike Brungs not boxed Merriam in a triple play would have been possible.

The best double play of the game, and probably of the series, came in the sixth frame when after W. Brungs had grounded out Stevens walked. Hegele singled and Trimmer followed by beating out an infield bouncer. The sacks were loaded with only one out. Don Brannon lined a drive toward left center field but Art Steele was in its path and snagging the ball he tossed to Merriam to end the frame. The other double killing came in the second frame when Steele to Merriam to Geib erased Trimmer and Strawser to end another threat.

Umpires for the final game were Russ Miller back of the plate, Charlie Scott on first and second, and Jim Dade on third.

YOU SPORTS FANS WHO want the low down on the American league pennant race should tune in on your old radio tonight at 8 o'clock to hear what Mickey Cochrane, Detroit Tiger manager, has to say about the league race—Cochrane's ball team is out in front of the New York Yankees but not far enough to call it a day and quit—Four out of every five fans are for Mickey and his fighting Bengals so listen to him tonight to get his slant on the race.

With the title in the softball league safely tucked away by the Circleville Oils, attention now turns to an all-star selection, an annual event. The method to be used this year is as follows: A list of all the players on all the teams will be given to each manager; All will make their selections then compare them, the player getting the most votes for any particular position being named to that spot. The all-star team doesn't mean a thing except the honor.

IT IS PLANNED TO HAVE A supper, or banquet, or something for all the teams, managers and officials of the league including the umpires providing the league treasury is in shape to handle the financial end of it—This will be known until George Jammed, league secretary, files his report with the president, Frank Lynch. Circleville Oils and straw-boarders enjoyed somewhat of a party on the ball field Tuesday evening.

is visiting King Alexander at the royal palace at Bled, who had the following statement to make.

DENIES CLAIMS

"I must deny the allegations and emphasize that we have no territorial aspirations whatever."

So far as details are concerned, the Exchange Telegraph said the rechapost printed a considerable amount.

"Germany and Yugoslavia are determined to make war on Italy," the newspaper was quoted as saying, "with the object of Germany and a large part of Carinthia and a large part of Carinthia."

Regarding this specific allegation, Dr. Jettich had the following to say.

"Carinthia is Austrian soil. I also wish to emphasize there is no secret pact existing between Yugoslavia and Germany. We have no intention of taking what does not belong to us."

The Exchange Telegraph declared the rechapost suggests that Austrian Nazis in Yugoslavia are being organized as a new Nazi Legion, such as that which existed in Bavaria. Nazi leaders, the newspaper was quoted as saying, are being supplied with money and propaganda material.

In addition, the newspaper, according to Exchange Telegraph, declared it learned from an "unreliable source" that a new Nazi putsch is being prepared for October to overthrow the Austrian regime, accompanied by armed risings in Tripoli, Algeria, Ireland, Switzerland and the Baltic.

And here again Dr. Jettich: "We have officially no connection whatever with Austrian Nazi refugees in Yugoslavia."

This age is so fast it has to reach backward to grasp time by the forelock.

Crip Polli, Slim Harriss, and Jimmy Walkup were used for the rest of the game.

DEMOCRATS

the state Democratic headquarters to succeed Marie McCurry who had held the post for the last 17 years.

Accepting the chairmanship of the executive committee, Poulson declared that factional and personal differences were erased at the primary election.

"Never has the state's democracy presented such a solid front," he asserted.

Davey predicted that Ohio would turn in a vote "one and one-half to one" in favor of Democracy at the November election. He promised the greatest campaign in the history of the state organization.

FACTIONS AT END

"There are to be no factions from now on," Davey declared. "There is to be no trading anywhere."

Poulson, as chairman of the executive committee, succeeds Dr. Carl Watson of Findlay, who announced prior to yesterday's meeting that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer, one of the two principal opponents to Davey in the primary was appointed to the committee vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas J. Connor, Cincinnati. Edward T. Dixon, Cincinnati, resigned chairman of the state board of liquor control, will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. A. Julian, Cincinnati.

W. Durbin, Kenton, resigned from the committee and was replaced by C. J. Altmaier, of Marion. Mrs. Bernice Pyke, of Cleveland, did not resign from the state central committee, but indicated she would tender her resignation as national committee-woman from Ohio.

The four resignations were the effect of an order issued by Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau that federal office holders after September 1 cannot hold both governmental and party offices.

Only three days remain of the present extra vote offer in which 210,000 extra votes will be credited on each and every $30 worth of subscriptions turned in.

A great deal depends upon the work accomplished this week by the energetic workers, as next week a further reduction in votes value on subscriptions will take place.

Not a single member of the drive has what might be termed a commanding lead at the present time, therefore this week's work could have lots to do with the results when the final vote count is made and the big cash prizes awarded.

Depletion of Streams

MANY a fisherman has wondered why he did not get more bites. He has blamed the weather, the direction of the wind, his bait. At one time he decides he has the wrong kind of tackle, and at another, he blames the stage of the water. Again, he settles down to belief that old-timers who prate about catching them as long as their arms and as fast as they could reel them in are tall talkers with little regard for truth.

There may or may not be consolation to him in the conclusion reached by federal agents that the streams have been overfished.

Ten million people in the United States go fishing at least once a year. And, due to accessibility of fishing streams by automobile, a large percentage of that number are pretty constantly on the job during the fishing season. The consequence is that they are taking fish faster than nature, helped by the government can replenish the supply.

Federal, state and private hatcheries are turning out an average of 1,100,000 young fish annually. This should be enough to give every one of the ten million anglers plenty of sport. That it does not is due to the fact that the infant mortality rate is high among the young fish because of lack of food and their natural enemies.

Something better should be done about it, fishing being among the inalienable rights of the citizen. But few fishermen are willing to surrender a season or so to give the game fish a chance to multiply, and if the government closes streams to all fishing for a year or so it forfeits that revenue from fishing licenses which has been used in some states to stock the streams.

The self-appointed guardian is not always a good adviser.

Calendar Reform

PERHAPS if societies for calendar reform could get together on some practical and trouble-proof plan that would be a substantial improvement on the Gregorian calendar something would be done about it by the powers that be and with the consent and approval of all concerned, and everybody is concerned.

These societies are all at white heat in their earnestness and all agree that drastic things ought to be done about our bungling old calendar which, it appears is so irregular, inexact and confusing as to make life almost unbearable. But there consonance ends. Each has a different scheme of reform and all other schemes are wrong, fatally wrong.

Calendar reform becomes a popular issue with the rank and file only when the reformers talk of increasing the number of monthly or semi-monthly pay days in the year, and it loses this popularity when the tenant foresees that it would also increase the number of rent days and when the debtor is advised that the traditional 30 days would be reduced to 28.

Calendar reform would take the world by storm if it promised to obliterate the first of the month, abolish blue Mondays, do away with the day after holidays elongate the number of paydays while subtracting bill days.

Another man that makes work for the coroner is he who "never takes a dare."

When chemists analyze foods they find a mixture of protein, fat, carbohydrates, water, and ashes or minerals. When a mixture of these substances, in the same proportion as they are found in milk, is fed to young animals as the only article of diet, they quickly sicken and die. Natural milk, on the other hand, supports life when fed alone. This discovery 20 years ago led to the search for vitamins.

"MA CINDERELLA" by Harold Bell Wright

SYNOPSIS

Years ago, Ann Haskel, dominant Ozark farmer, sent her fatherless son, John Herbert, away in the care of Judge Shannon, so that the boy could be educated properly. No one knew the heartache this sacrifice caused Ann. In John Herbert's place, Ann raised a well-to-do stepson, Jeff Todd. Ann, Jeff, and Nance Jordan, Ann's housekeeper, live together on the farm. Following graduation from college, John Herbert returns home and is stunned to find his mother a crude mountain woman but he overlooks this in gratitude for all she did for him. Ann, on the other hand, is disappointed that her son is anxious to write, instead of practice law. John Herbert tries to explain to his mother that it is just as necessary to feed the spiritual appetite as the physical. "I reckon hit's too late for me ever to rightly understand hit," Ann says wistfully. Diane Carroll, a young artist, who values her work above her wealth, which she keeps secret, and John Herbert become boon companions. One day, Jeff, jealous of John Herbert, tries in vain to get his stepbrother to fight. Ann tells John Herbert he will have to fight Jeff or they won't be any living for him or her. She is as puzzled by her son's ignorance of backwoods ethics as he is bewildered by her attitude. Ann hears the vacationists at the Lodge jokingly call her "Ma Cinderella" and resents their ridicule. Later, when John Herbert again refuses to fight Jeff, Ann anxiously asks, "Tell me honest, son, you ain't afraid to fight Jeff Todd, be you?" "Cause he is feared," says Jeff, and starts for John Herbert but, before he advances two steps, Ann covers him with a rifle. Diane encourages John Herbert to continue with his writing.

CHAPTER XXI.

"But, Diane, the whole thing is so hopeless. It may take years for me to win a place as a writer."

"Of course it will be hard going for a while," she admitted. "Every writer has had to undergo a period of starvation. It seems to be the price writers must pay. But you'll manage somehow."

"But what about mother, Diane? I'm not worried about myself. But is it fair to her? Think of all that she has done for me. Think of the way she has worked—of the hard life she has endured all these years in order that I might grow up in an environment and with advantages which she has never known. The debt I owe her, aside from her being my mother, is more than I can ever pay. I must take care of her now as any decent son would. I can't ask her to continue living as she is now, for Heaven knows how many years more, until I am able to earn a respectable income with my pen."

"How does your mother feel about it?" Diane asked, quietly. "Have you talked it over with her?"

He laughed desperately. "You should have heard us this morning after you left."

"What does she think you ought to do?"

With bitter humor the last of the Haskels told her about his talk with his mother.

"Why did she ever send me away?" he concluded, hopelessly. "If she wanted me to be like these people, why didn't she keep me here in the woods and bring me up as she brought up Jeff Todd? Why did Judge Shannon let her do it? Why did they deceive me about—about things? Why did the Judge—represent mother to me? Couldn't they see what was bound to happen when I found out how things really were?"

Diane asked, gravely: "Are you so sure that Judge Shannon did misrepresent your mother to you, John Herbert? I have a feeling that, somehow, in spite of appearances, she is all that the good Judge pictured her. And hasn't it occurred to you that your mother never meant for you ever to come back to her?"

John Herbert stared at her. "You mean that she planned for me never to see her again?"

Diane nodded.

"I wonder," he muttered, more to himself than to his companion.

"But what is done is done, John Herbert," Diane continued. "It is impossible for you or your mother to go back. You must see that. Your mother must see it."

He answered with gloomy humor: "Apparently the only thing that mother can see is that I must fight Jeff Todd."

On the way to the Lodge, Diane looked back so often that John Herbert noticed her uneasiness and asked what was the matter.

canvas to the spot she was painting she saw distinctly a face. It was Ann Haskel.

The startled artist managed to give no sign that she had discovered the mountain woman's presence. Shifting her attention to another part of the scene, she went on with her work. But the young woman was not feeling as calm as her outward appearance indicated. A cold chill of fear crept over her. The hand which held the brush trembled. She dared not look again toward that spot in the shadow, but she could feel the mountain woman watching her. Under cover of selecting a tube of color from the box on the ground beside her, she stole a quick glance at John Herbert. He was writing industriously in a pocket notebook and did not look up.

Several minutes passed. Diane realized that for her to continue longer without revealing to the mountain woman that she was aware of the latter's presence was impossible. In spite of all her efforts she would be forced to look straight into those dark eyes which she felt staring at her, with Heaven knows what intent.

"I've finished for today," she announced, and began packing her kit. "So soon?" asked John Herbert, surprised.

Diane shrugged. "I am not getting anywhere with the darned thing. It's gone hay wire on me again."

He rose to his feet and approached the canvas on the easel. She snatched it away. "Don't look at it, please! It's rotten. Come on, let's go."

On the way to the Lodge she looked back over her shoulder so often that John Herbert noticed her uneasiness and asked what was the matter.

With a laugh to cover her confusion she said: "It's my picture. This is my second failure, you know. I can't imagine what's wrong with me. I believe that darned place is haunted."

At the twin oaks John Herbert stopped. "Aren't you coming on to the Lodge?" asked Diane. "We've worlds of time for a swim before dinner."

He shook his head. "Not this afternoon, Diane. I don't think I could face the bunch just yet. That Cinderella joke, you know, was— Well,

PATTERN 9111

Little girls like an ensemble because it makes them feel grown up, and, truth to tell, looks very smart. To mothers, the practical side of such an outfit has a strong appeal. Indoors the jacket may be taken off and on warm days it may be omitted altogether, whereas, when there is really chill in the air, the whole little affair gives plenty of warmth. Make it of a plaid wool or jersey with a plain bodice and it will be useful and attractive—with its high waistline, its chic little sleeves and the well-placed pleats in the skirt to give it grace.

Pattern 9111 may be ordered only in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10 requires 3 yards 36 inch fabric and 1/2 yard contrasting.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE

Ignoring Symptoms of Cancer a Common Fault

Particularly True of Cancer of Breast, Says Authority, Stressing Value of Early Care

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. United States senator from New York Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

CANCER OF the breast is not common, but unfortunately it is often neglected. Too many times the victim of this disturbance consults a physician only after the disease has become deeply seated and possibly beyond cure. Not by any means is cancer incurable when recognized in its early stages. Proper measures taken then, will give complete relief in most cases. This is particularly true of cancer of the breast.

At the annual convention of the American Medical association in Cleveland, the importance of early discovery of and attention to tumors of the breast was stressed. It was stated that if women were properly examined within a few weeks after the onset of the symptoms, the chance for the development of the disease would be materially reduced. Besides a great deal of physical pain and mental suffering would be prevented.

Heed First Warnings

Some women are aware of a disturbance in the breast yet avoid consulting a physician. They have a terrible fear of being told they have cancer; they dread the thought of an operation. This is too bad, because any small tumor of the breast is easily removed. When this is done, even if it really is cancer, complete cure is effected. If neglected too long, it may mean complete amputation of the breast and further treatment to prevent the spread of the disease.

If there is a small lump in the breast, no matter how trivial it may seem, it is imperative that you consult your doctor. Whether pain is or is not present, the little swelling should not be disregarded. As a matter of fact, in early cases of cancer of the breast there is no pain. In some cases there may be considerable swelling and the nipple may turn in. The combination is sometimes a sign of cancer.

A bloody discharge from the nipple warrants immediate attention.

Peek also is skeptical regarding reciprocity treaties. At one time he was for them. But ever since Cordell Hull pulled tariff negotiations out of Peek's hands, he has been skeptical.

From the Import-Export Bank, therefore, has come strenuous though covert obstruction. The Bank even tried to hold up the Cuban Treaty at the last moment because Cuba had defaulted on loans to the Chase National Bank.

Invisible Inertia

Even within the State Department, however, the invisible hand of inertia has seized upon tariff negotiations.

To push them an elaborate machinery was created, at its head is the "Executive Committee on Commercial Policy" chairmanned by Hull.

Below it is the "Inter-Departmental Committee for Foreign Trade Agreements", chairmanned by Henry E. Grady, tariff expert especially brought from San Francisco.

Below this are the "Country Committees", set up to negotiate treaties with each country. On them are representatives of the Departments of State, Commerce, Agriculture and the Tariff Commission. The latter figures out concessions to be given to foreign countries by the United States, while the Commerce Department figures out concessions to be asked.

TEACHERS EXAMINATIONS

A city teachers' examination will be held in the high school building Friday, Aug. 31, 1934 beginning at 8:30 a. m. All credentials must be evaluated by the state department of education before the examination is taken.

In addition to all these there is the "Committee for Reciprocity Information", chairmanned by Thomas W. Page of the Tariff Commission. This committee holds hearings and is in contact with American producers.

Questions and Answers

What is the correct baking temperature for baking angel food or sponge cakes?

Authorities differ as to the exact degree of heat required, but the variation is not great. One recommends 275 to 300 degrees for the first 45 minutes of baking and an increase of 25 degrees in temperature the last 15 minutes. Another standard that is widely accepted, is a temperature of 325 degrees for the entire hour of baking. We now believe that angel food cakes are improved by placing them in a preheated oven, rather than starting them as our grandmothers did, in a cold oven.

How many cups of coffee can be made from one pound of coffee? And how much tea is required for serving iced tea to sixty persons?

One pound of coffee will make 40 cups of the beverage. For serving 60 persons with iced tea, 1 1/2 pound of tea is used in 3 1/2 gallons of boiling water.

Is it true that some foods are more subject to producing gas in the stomach or alimentary canal than others, and if so, would you list them?

All these foods may not have the same degree of gas production in the stomach or alimentary canal, but the foods capable of producing flatulence are as follows: soft drinks, highly sweetened beverages, all highly fermented cheese, apples, cantaloupe, raisins, watermelon, some meat broths, candy, sugar, jam, beans, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cucumbers, garlic, onions, peas, peppers, radishes, turnips, and nuts. Other substances that have this effect, are condiments, extremely hot or cold foods, excessively salted foods and cold fried foods.

Is it possible to make an ice in an automatic refrigerator without it having lumps of ice in it? Could you recommend a good recipe?

The success of freezing a smooth ice depends on the recipe, the method of freezing and the degree of cold you can obtain with your refrigerator. If your refrigerator has a cold control on it, turn the control to the coldest point about 1 1/2 hour before putting the dessert in to freeze. Leave the control there until the dessert has frozen as firmly as you want it to be, then return it to the normal position on the dial, and hold the dessert at that temperature until time for serving.

Here is a recipe for Pineapple Ice that is sure to give good results.

Pineapple Ice

1 or 2 egg whites
1 C. crushed pineapple, drained
1 qt. milk
1 1/2 lemon
2 C. sugar
1 orange

Scald milk, add sugar, and let cool. Add pineapple and beaten egg whites. Put in tray and when it starts to freeze to mush, mix orange and lemon juice in and freeze for 3 or 4 hours. This quantity will serve 12.

Peach Season Dessert

Peach Schaum Torte, a meringue dessert, is delicious to serve anytime. Let's try it soon!

4 egg whites
1 C. granulated sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. vinegar
Sliced peaches, and whipped cream

AT THE GRAND

"Registered Nurse," the First National picture which comes to the Grand Theatre on Wednesday, is said to be a romantic drama of hospital life with an entirely new twist. Based on the story by Florence Johns and Wilton Lackaye, Jr., it deals with the love life of the nurses and doctors in a great metropolitan hospital rather than with the more sombre or technical side of such an institution.

Only two patients come prominently into the picture and these supply the laughable incidents in a story that leans more to thrilling melodrama than to comedy. One of these is a promoter of wrestling bouts and the other the keeper of a disorderly place, each of whom is taken to the hospital against his will after having been battered up in a free for all fight.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Sylvia Sidney, figuratively speaking, has emerged from the cocoon and now is a butterfly.

"Thirty-Day Princess," her new Paramount film, now showing at the Cliftona Theatre, with Cary Grant as her leading man, gives Sylvia more than thirty changes of modern, fascinating clothes which fairly scream with luxurious newness.

Usually her screen wardrobe consists of prison uniforms, carnival dancing girl's outfits, drab cheap clothes of a poorer class of working girl; but here in "Thirty-Day Princess," for the first time in her screen career, she abounds in exotic hostess gowns, afternoon frocks, rich dinner gowns and luxurious evening gowns, with smart beautiful accessories and jewels.

Since 1929 per capita consumption of milk and cream in cities and towns declined about 5 percent. Consumption is now near 39 gallons of milk a year.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

ABOUT ASHVILLE BONDS

Editor Herald:—Aug. 28.—When 366 out of a possible 600 voters go and cast their ballots at a primary election there is a reason. This is just what happened at the Ashville election on the seven question 14 inst., and the encouraging feature was that 326 were favorable, while only 40 could be mustered against the project. Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away we are inclined to the opinion, that at no time during the campaign was the question in danger of defeat. Opposition resulted largely from a misunderstanding, and this once straightened out some of the most outspoken opponents changed their minds and supported the issue.

As a general proposition we have always opposed bond issues, unless in case of extreme necessity. We need not argue that residence in a village free from bonded indebtedness is beyond ability to pay. Then on the other hand when absolute necessities can be obtained on such liberal terms as offered by the federal government it is only the part of wisdom to incur a reasonable amount of future obligations, especially when the projects in question enhance the value of our property, place us in line for certain industries and last, but not least enable us to correct an abuse that has been allowed to exist for many years and thus safeguard the health of the village.

That the proposed improvements—water works and sanitary sewers in which the National government agree to give us an outright grant of 30 per cent of the costs of the projects are a necessity in any community, is not debatable. As to the costs, the farmer is a utility and will not add enable us to correct an abuse that has been allowed to exist for many years and thus safeguard the health of the village.

Remember the only security back of Ashville's water works project is a lien on the lands and plant; and upon its future success depends the aid, both moral and financial, you may be able to give it.

By an overwhelming vote of our citizens the sewers are a village project and the costs of construction will be raised by taxation outside the 10-mil levy, and as you are aware has been certified by Auditor White to be $1.70 per $1000 valuation of the tax duplicate. The cost is in no way a burden.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Tariff Negotiations Under New Law So Far Are Complete New Deal Failure

WASHINGTON—Probably no legislation in the mass of revolutionary bills passed during the last session was more unprecedented than that of giving the President power to negotiate tariff treaties without ratification by Congress.

In passing this, Congress relinquished a prerogative jealously guarded for more than one hundred years. But it did not relinquish it without a struggle.

The Tariff Bill was passed despite a continual barrage from the Republicans, and only after Administration leaders had painted in rosiest hues the flow of trade it would start from these shores.

These treaties were to be pushed through immediately, in order to cope with cut-throat competition from other nations. It was an emergency situation, and a glowing picture was painted of the results to be accomplished during the summer.

The summer is now nearly over. Almost three months have elapsed since the heralded tariff-bill was passed.

During that period only one treaty, with Cuba, has been signed under the new bill. The Cuban treaty was begun one year ago, was almost completed before Congress voted emergency tariff powers.

Tariff Stagnation

The status of the reciprocity situation briefly is this:

Francis Sayre, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of tariff negotiations, is in Europe on vacation, has been there most of the summer.

Dr. Herbert Feis, Economic Adviser of the State Department, also is in Europe on vacation, has been there most of the summer.

An elaborate machine for the negotiation of tariff treaties has been created but appears too top-heavy to function.

Eleven countries have sent their representatives to the State Department—Spain, Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Bolivia, Peru, Portugal, Sweden, Norway, Italy, Argentina—to ask for reciprocity treaties, without result. The United States, they were told, was not ready.

The Spanish Ambassador, Don Luis Calderon, was appointed to Washington because of his expert commercial knowledge. He has called upon Secretary Hull many times. He has offered him a reduction of Spanish tariff rates on American automobiles, machinery, cotton, sausage casings, fertilizer and certain kinds of tobacco, provided the United States would lower its duties on Spanish wines and certain fruits. Mr. Hull was polite but evasive. Stagnation has been almost complete.

Stagnation Reasons

Reasons for this are threefold:

1. There is a split within the Administration on tariff matters.
2. There is no driving force within the State Department to whip tariff treaties into shape.
3. In some cases it is feared that tariff treaties negotiated during a Congressional election may react against the Administration in November.

This is definitely the case with Argentina. Its commodities are agricultural, would compete with the Midwest farm belt, and an Argentine treaty is considered political dynamite at present.

But with most countries, the issue goes far deeper. It results in part from long-smouldering feuds within the New Deal. One feud is between Professor Mokey and Cordell Hull. Another is between Hull and George Peck.

Mokey is bitterly opposed to tariff reciprocity partly as a matter of principle, partly because of his antipathy for Cordell Hull. Moreover, Mokey still has power within the Administration. He has vigorously attacked reciprocity in his magazine, "Today." His ex-accidentant, Arthur Mullen, Jr., son of Nebraska's ex-National Committee man, is in the Import-Export Bank. Mullen is assistant to George Peck. Another assistant is John L. Coulter, former high tariff member of the tariff Commission.

Upton Sinclair's Nomination Causes Concern in Capital

BILBO, BLEASE TRIAL

Three Cornered Race Promised on Coast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The much-debated question as to how much "left" sentiment there is among the Democratic rank and file of the country seemed pretty well answered today as a result of yesterday's primary elections. There is a lot of it.

Upton Sinclair's easy capture of the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in California, and by really impressive figures, gave the old-line conservative Democrats here something of a shock. The erstwhile socialist and radical pamphlet writer literally walked away from his conservative opposition.

TWO OTHERS CLOSE

In Mississippi, ex-Gov. Bilbo, who promised to "raise more hell than Huey Long" if Mississippi voters sent him to Washington, ran so close behind the conservative Senator Hubert D. Stephens that a run-off primary will be necessary.

In South Carolina, ex-Senator Cole Blease, the Huey Long of his day in the Senate, was right on the heels of Olin D. Johnson for the gubernatorial nomination, which in South Carolina, is equivalent to election.

Studying these figures today, party leaders could not help but be convinced that down where the Democratic tide flows strongest there is an undercurrent of unrest and so-called radicalism that inevitably will make itself felt in the 74th Congress to be elected in November.

TALK OF SINCLAIR

It was Sinclair's victory in California, however, that they talked most about. Here was a man whose name has been synonymous of radicalism for a quarter of a century, a man whose association with the party is only a matter of months, whose methods of campaigning and political philosophy shocked the conservatives to their marrow. He spread-eagled the field at a time when Democratic registration figures exceeded the Republican in California for the first time in nearly 30 years.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—A sensational three-cornered race for the governorship of California was assured today as a result of yesterday's record-breaking primary election.

RADER'S STOCK BARN LEVELED

Flames Destroy Building Wednesday Morning; Other Buildings Saved.

A huge stock barn, the largest building on the farm of Burr Rader, Pickaway-twp., county commissioner, was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight Tuesday. The cause of the conflagration has not been determined; neither has the loss been estimated.

Awakened by a passing motorist who discovered the flames about 12:30 a. m. Wednesday, the Rader family summoned the local fire department and asked the operator on duty in the Citizens Telephone Co. exchange to notify neighbors.

The local department's engine sped to the scene south of the city on the Scioto trail, and many neighbors hurried to the home.

The flames had made much headway before they were discovered and all efforts of the fire fighters were turned toward saving other buildings. Although several were scorched, none caught fire. All other buildings except one are covered by galvanized roofing adding to their protection.

A quantity of hay and a wagon were destroyed in the big barn, which was insured. The barn was an imposing structure and was in excellent condition. It was rebuilt 12 years ago after being leveled by a cyclone which spread destruction through that section of the county. No stock was burned in the flames.

The Rader family today extended thanks to the local fire department and to the neighbors who helped prevent the spread of the flames.

Wagon Builder, Veteran Party Leader, Takes Weiler's Place at Helm of New Organization; First Chairman Resigns; New Names Added to Committee.

James A. McLaughlin, well known S. Scioto-st wagon builder, was elected president of the Pickaway-co Democratic club to succeed Ernie W. Weiler, this city, resigned, at a meeting of the organization in the council chamber Tuesday evening.

Mr. Weiler submitted his resignation soon after he called the meeting, attended by 35 Democrats, to order, stating that because of other pressing duties he would no longer be able to serve.

The club then moved unanimously to name Mr. McLaughlin in Weiler's place.

BECOMES ACTIVE HEAD

A veteran in Democratic politics here for a number of years, McLaughlin is expected to be an active head for the club which is just getting its start in preparation for the coming campaign. In accepting the job, he said:

"A club of this kind can be very worth while to the Democratic ticket. There is no reason why we can't elect the entire ticket from top to bottom if we work co-operatively and efficiently."

A number of county Democrats attending a meeting of the club for the first time were highly enthusiastic about the organization. All of them expressed 100 per cent loyalty to the party in November.

Leaders of the group expressed deep concern over the apparent lack of interest on the part of county Democratic candidates to the coming campaign. They attended the club's meetings. There were only two candidates present at last night's gathering. One of them declared: "The candidates certainly can't expect an organization of this kind to get back of them if they don't first show an interest by attending meetings."

'OFFICIAL' DAY AT STATE FAIR

Largest Crowd of Week Expected As Weather Continues Perfect.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—With the Ohio State Fair swinging into the half-way period today, fair officials were planning for the biggest crowd so far this year.

Wednesday is always the big day of fair week, as far as attendance is concerned, and careful methods of handling the crowd will be in force, including more strict rules on autos allowed inside the grounds on passes.

Two girls were knocked down but were uninjured yesterday when hit by a truck, and officials are trying to make certain that no serious accidents will occur inside the grounds.

Today has been set aside as county officials day, with county commissioners, engineers, township trustees and clerks being the guests of Earl H. Hanefeld, head of the state agriculture department, and Charles M. Beer, fair manager.

Fishermen from all over the state have entered in the bait casting tournament to be staged on the banks of East Lake in the grounds.

Horse and sheep judgments were on the morning program, with weight pulling events for heavy-weight teams near noon. Air brush painting, pottery making and firing, and the canary show are features planned for women attending the fair.

Meeting in regular session Tuesday evening, the board fixed salaries for the instructors and approved the list of assignments submitted by Supt. Daley.

Practically no changes were made in the salary schedules, so the monthly payroll will remain at the same figure it was last year, it was said. This payroll approximates $4,800, according to Mr. Colville, clerk of the board.

FLEEING BOYS CAUGHT TODAY

Captured in Cambridge After Taxi-Cab Operator Reveals Trip.

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 29.—Tipped off by a taxi-driver who had unwittingly aided the youths in their escape, police here today captured Richard Harley, 14-year-old Columbus "problem boy," and Norman Edward, also 14, who broke out of the juvenile detention home in Columbus late last night.

The tip that resulted in the capture of the two boys was supplied Columbus police, who in turn notified local authorities, by Calvin Yoh, a taxi-driver. Yoh disclosed he had taken the boys to Zanesville for $10.

Harley, who was arrested in connection with a fatal stolen automobile accident in Columbus recently, and his companion broke out of the juvenile detention home by smashing a window. Before they fled, they stole $74 from the purse of the matron of the home.

Yoh made his report to Columbus police following his return after taking the boys to Zanesville when he recognized their published photographs. Neither of the boys offered any resistance when they were picked up here. They had hitch-hiked to Cambridge from Zanesville.

OILS WIN TITLE!

Capture Third In Series Play

The Circleville Oils, backed by Glenn I. Nickerson and managed by George Crum and George Dudley Courtright, won the city softball championship Tuesday evening defeating the Conington Corporation in the third consecutive game of a three-out-of-five series.

The score was 10 to 3 with the Oils clinching the game in the seventh inning with six runs. They led 4 to 2 at the time with the straw-board threatening in almost every inning to overcome the lead. With the six runs, however, the game and series were ended.

The Oils won the first game of the play off last week, 6-2; took the second Monday evening, 5-1, then ended the series Tuesday with their 10-3 victory.

PURCELL WINS CREDIT

To Carl Purcell must go the greatest part of the honor for the title. The tall right hander who often hits better than he pitches gave the straw-boarders a total of 19 hits in the three games, six and one-third per contest. His best performance was Monday night when he was touched only four times with sensational support by his mates cutting off other bids.

The Oils wasted no time in getting to work Tuesday evening counting three markers in the opening frame. Steele and Merriam singled, Purcell doubled and Walker singled with Purcell scoring on White's infield out. Another was counted in the second when W. Brungs was unable to hold Geib's fly ball going for a two base error. The runner advanced on Moore's fly to the same place, being caught, then scored on a passed ball.

CAUGHT AT THIRD

The straw-board scored its first run in the third on an error and a double. With two out Geib dropped Steele's throw to get G. Brungs. Whaley promptly doubled to left field scoring Brungs but Steele threw the runner out when he tried to take third.

The Bloomingburg team has twice beaten the Travelers this year both times by one run in extra innings games.

Squirrel Jones, manager of the Travelers, intends to bring three fast colored teams here during the remainder of the season.

The balance of the schedule includes Chillicothe here, Sept. 9, Washington C. H. here Sept. 16 and Zanesville there Sept. 23.

The probable lineup for Sunday's game is: M. Johnson, 1b; John Lewis, 2b; Jay Henry, 3b; Squirrel Jones, 3b; Jay Henry, Jr., rf; Dink Harrison, cf; Hill or Coleman, lf; W. Jones or Jackson, c; D. Johnson or W. Jones, p.

WILSON'S HIT HELPS BIRDS

Triples With Paths Loaded; Heusser In Neat Act As Relief Hurler.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—The Columbus Red Birds, last year's little world's series champions, today held undisputed possession of second place in the American association following their 5-3 win over the Milwaukee Brewers there yesterday.

It was the Bird's first win against three defeats at the hands of the Milwaukee team in the recent series, but it broke the tie of the two clubs for second position.

A home run by George Detore put the Brewers in an early lead in the second inning, but the Birds went on top to stay in the fourth when Charlie Wilson slugged a triple with the bases loaded.

"Jumbo Jim" Elliott, who was pounded generously and then aided by the Brewers poor base running, was replaced by Ed Heusser with the bases jammed and two out in the seventh. Heusser retired the side and then allowed only one more hit for the rest of the game.

Crip Polli, Slim Harris, and Jimmy Walkup were used for the Brewers' hurling.

This age is so fast it has to reach backward to grasp time by the forelock.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

COCHRANE ON AIR

YOU SPORTS FANS WHO want the low down on the American league pennant race should tune in on your old radio tonight at 8 o'clock to hear what Mickey Cochrane, Detroit Tiger manager, has to say about the league race. Cochrane's ball team is out in front of the New York Yankees but not far enough to call it a day and quit. Four out of every five fans are for Mickey and his fighting Bengals so listen to him tonight to get his slant on the race.

With the title in the soft-ball league only tacked away by the Circleville Oils, attention now turns to an all-star selection, an annual event. The method to be used this year is as follows: A list of all the players on all the teams will be given to each manager. All will make their selections then compare them. The player getting the most votes for any particular position being named to that spot. The all-star team doesn't mean a thing except the honor.

IT IS PLANNED TO HAVE A supper, or banquet, or something for all the teams, managers and officials of the league including the umpires providing the league treasury is in shape to handle the financial end of it. This will not be known until George Hammel, league secretary, files his report. So far as details are concerned, the Circleville Oils and straw-boarders enjoyed somewhat of a party on the ball field Tuesday evening.

WAR SCARE

is visiting King Alexander at the royal palace at Belgrade, who had the following statement to make.

"I must deny the allegations and emphasize that we have no territorial aspirations whatever." So far as details are concerned, the Exchange Telegraph said the reichspost printed a considerable amount.

"Germany and Yugoslavia are determined to make war on Italy," the newspaper was quoted as saying, "with the object of Germany securing a large part of Carinthia and a fresh demarcation of the Yugoslavian boundary from the river Drau to the lower Tauern mountains."

The German frontier in the event of victory would run over Cotrina and Darnepo to Trieste, which will then become Germany's southern port.

Regarding this specific allegation, Dr. Jettich had the following to say.

"Carinthia is Austrian soil. I also wish to emphasize there is no secret pact existing between Yugoslavia and Germany. We have no intention of taking what does not belong to us."

The Exchange Telegraph declared the reichspost suggests that Austrian Nazis in Yugoslavia are being organized into a new Nazi Legion, such as that which existed in Bavaria. Nazi leaders, the newspaper was quoted as saying, are being supplied with money and propaganda material.

In addition, the newspaper, according to Exchange Telegraph, declared it learned from an "unreliable source" that a new Nazi putsch is being prepared for October to overthrow the Austrian regime, accompanied by armed risings in Tripoli, Algeria, Ireland, Switzerland and the Baltic.

And here again Dr. Jettich: "We have officially no connection whatever with Austrian Nazi refugees in Yugoslavia."

DEMOCRATS

the state Democratic headquarters to succeed Marie McCurry who had held the post for the last 17 years.

Accepting the chairmanship of the executive committee, Poulson declared that factional and personal differences were erased at the primary election.

"Never has the state's democracy presented such a solid front," he asserted.

Davey predicted that Ohio would turn in a vote "one and one-half to one" in favor of Democracy at the November election.

He promised the "greatest campaign in the history of the state organization."

FACTIONS AT END

"There are to be no factions from now on," Davey declared. "There is to be no trading anywhere."

Poulson, as chairman of the executive committee, succeeds Dr. Carl Watson of Findlay, who announced prior to yesterday's meeting that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer, one of the two principal opponents to Davey in the primary was appointed to the committee vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas J. Connor, Cincinnati. Edward T. Dixon, Cincinnati, resigned chairman of the state board of liquor control, will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. A. Julian, Cincinnati.

W. W. Durbin, Kenton, resigned from the committee and was replaced by C. J. Altmaier, of Marion. Mrs. Bernice Pyke, of Cleveland, did not resign from the state central committee, but indicated she would tender her resignation as national committee woman from Ohio.

The four resignations were the effect of an order issued by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau that federal office holders after September 1 cannot hold both governmental and party offices.

Connor is internal revenue collector at Cincinnati. Durbin, registrar of the United States treasury; Julian is United States treasurer, and Mrs. Pyke holds a federal position at Cleveland.

CLAYPOOL WINS

ected the chairman of the committee.

Tuesday afternoon, however, when the Democratic state central committee, under the command of Martin L. Davey, gubernatorial candidate, met in Columbus, he was replaced by being removed from the state executive committee.

McGONAGLE SELECTED. U. S. McGonagle, of New Lexington, was named to replace Claypool. Reason for the change, it was said, hinged about Claypool's prominent activities in the White Administration.

Miss Catherine C. Lancaster, was named to the executive committee with McGonagle.

Claypool and Miss Josephine Justus, state central committee woman from the district, attended the Columbus meeting yesterday.

Following the meeting of the Ross-co central committee in Chillicothe Monday evening, Senator Ford, who was defeated by Claypool for district central committeeman at the recent primary, threatened to bolt the ticket.

Quoted by The Chillicothe Gazette, Ford said, "I won't be on a ticket that's run by such a gang."

Advices from "Columbus" today stated that Claypool was "surprised" at the state central committee's action in removing him from the executive committee.

MARGIN WON

Haight, youthful newcomer to political ranks in the middle.

Sinclair, famous for his "muck raking" novels swept to victory on the Democratic ticket with a tremendous total that almost doubled the vote tally of his nearest opponent, George Creel, war-time propagandist in the Wilson administration and California NRA administrator in the present Roosevelt regime.

MERRIAM RUNS WELL

Governor Merriam, heading the Republican ticket, also scored an impressive coup over his opponents, former Governor C. C. Young, John R. Quinn, chairman of the American Legion, and Haight, one-time California state corporation commissioner.

Haight goes into the November finals by virtue of the fact that he also ran on the Progressive and commonwealth tickets and automatically becomes their candidate. At the same time another smashing victory stood out in the primary—the virtual election of the veteran United States Senator Hiram Johnson. He overhauled opponents on four tickets—Democratic, Republican, Progressive and Commonwealth—and will face only the nominal opposition of George R. Kirkpatrick, a Socialist, in November.

One of the strangest political pictures in California history is the result of the lineup—an ultra-conservative, Merriam, who leaped into prominence by sending the national guard into the recent San Francisco waterfront strike riots and threatening martial law; an "ultraliberal," Sinclair, who leaped from the Socialist party to the Democratic with his epic "End Poverty in California" plan, and Haight, a smooth campaigner who surprised political observers with the strength of his first major contest.

SINCLAIR POWERFUL

Sinclair blew across the Los Angeles political stage like a blizzard, rolling up such a margin in the big southern county with its preponderance of the state's population that he was "in" before he crossed the Tehachapi mountains into northern California.

He snowed under, besides Creel, Justus Wardell, an old-time Democrat and an original Roosevelt man; Milton Young, Los Angeles attorney and loyal Democrat, and a couple of lesser lights.

Home Helps

Soup—a "Wonderland" of Delicious Possibilities

Lessons in cookery from Alice in Wonderland? Not quite! But soup has enormous possibilities in the chef's eyes for successful contributions to meals.

A heartening beginning to any meal, soup has long been associated as a first course. Generous servings of soup make the main dish for luncheon or supper. The trickiest use for soup, one that has not occurred to many home-makers, is as an ingredient! Soups can be used as an extender for left-over foods, as sauces, in scalloped combinations, in souffles and timbales, and prominently in molded salad dishes.

The salad course may be more familiar to you, as a use for soups. Jellied bouillon and tomato soup make delightful molded salads. They can be used clear, or with vegetables. A nice combination is: asparagus tips and pimiento strips, or tomato quarters and cucumber slices, in jellied chicken bouillon. Another is: chicken, rings of potato and tomato jelly, or, stuffed eggs and olives in jellied bouillon.

Keep tomato soup on hand to use as a base for a spicy tomato sauce which is delicious served with rice and chopped meat, fish balls, meat croquettes, pork chops, baked eggs, stuffed peppers and cheese on toast.

Chicken Gumbo Soup Creole

1/2 of a 4-lb. chicken
1 C. rice
1 C. dried okra
1 small onion
2 stalks celery
1 C. strained tomatoes

Select a hen chicken and clean it, salt and allow it to remain in the refrigerator overnight, and the following day, boil in cold water. Skim frequently if a clear soup is desired. Let the soup simmer slowly 3 or 4 more hours, add the vegetables and boil 1 hour longer. Before adding the vegetables remove the chicken from the bones, mince the chicken and return it to the broth.

Italian Minestrone

For a tempting hearty soup, Italian Minestrone is highly recommended. Here is how it is made.

1 small bunch parsley
8 medium carrots
2 C. diced raw potatoes
1/2 small white cabbage shredded
4 C. diced celery stalks and leaves
1/2 C. minced onion
1 clove garlic minced
1 C. dried peas or beans
7 tsp. salt
4 qt. boiling water
2 Tbsp. salad oil
Grated cheese

Pluck the leaves from the parsley. Add with the prepared vegetables, beans and salt to the boiling water. Cover and simmer 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Then add the oil. Pass the grated cheese with the soup when serving.

Attractive garnishes and accompaniments make soup twice as appetizing. Some of the possibilities are: minced green and red pepper, shredded carrot, chopped parsley, rings of hard cooked egg whites, cooked rice, macaroni, spaghetti, dry cereals. Especially good in bouillon and meat turtle soup is sliced orange and lemon; also, for bouillions and clear soups, whipped cream, grated cheese and chopped nuts are used. Accompaniments of great delight are cheese straws and crisp crackers.

A house committee comprised of Clark K. Hunsicker, John W. Hay and Sam Scott, and program committee including E. L. Hoffman, John G. Ward, Jr., and Leo White, were named to serve at next Tuesday's meeting.

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell the decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile does not do its work. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 1/2 of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. It decays and poisons all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently stir the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a cologne (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and sends the return in many people. ## Depletion of Streams

MANY a fisherman has wondered why he did not get more bites. He has blamed the weather, the direction of the wind, his bait, the wrong kind of tackle, and at another, he blames the stage of the water. Again, he settles down to belief that old-timers who prate about catching them as long as their arms and as fast as they could reel them in are tall talkers with little regard for truth.

There may or may not be consolation to him in the conclusion reached by federal agents that the streams have been overfished.

Ten million people in the United States go fishing at least once a year. And, due to accessibility of fishing streams by automobile, a large percentage of that number are pretty constantly on the job during the fishing season. The consequence is that they are taking fish faster than nature, helped by the government can replenish the supply.

Federal, state and private hatcheries are turning out an average of 1,100,000,000 young fish annually. This should be enough to give every one of the ten million anglers plenty of sport. That it does not is due to the fact that the infant mortality rate is high among the young fish because of lack of food and their natural enemies.

Something should be done about it, fishing being among the inalienable rights of the citizen. But few fishermen are willing to surrender a season or so to give the game fish a chance to multiply, and if the government closes streams to all fishing for a year or so it forfeits that revenue from fishing licenses which has been used in some states to stock the streams.

The self-appointed guardian is not always a good adviser.

Calendar Reform

PERHAPS if societies for calendar reform could get together on some practical and trouble-proof plan that would be a substantial improvement on the Gregorian calendar something would be done about it by the powers that be and with the consent and approval of all concerned, and everybody is concerned.

These societies are all at white heat in their earnestness and all agree that drastic things ought to be done about our bungling old calendar which, it appears is so irregular, inexact and confusing as to make life almost unbearable. But there conformance and each has a different scheme of reform and all other schemes are wrong, fatally wrong.

Calendar reform becomes a popular issue with the rank and file only when the reformers talk of increasing the number of monthly or semi-monthly pay days in the year, and it loses this popularity when the tenant foresees that it would also increase the number of rent days and when the debtor is advised that the traditional 30 days would be reduced to 28.

Calendar reform would take the world by storm if it promised to obliterate the fogs of the month, abolish blue Mondays, do away with the day after holidays, elongate the vacation and multiply the number of paydays while subtracting bill days.

Another man that makes work for the coterie is he who "never takes a dare."

When chemists analyze foods they find a mixture of protein, fat, carbohydrates, water, and ash, or minerals. When a mixture of these substances, in the same proportion as they are found in milk, is fed to young animals as the only article of diet, they quickly sicken and die. Natural milk, on the other hand, supports life when fed alone. This discovery 20 years ago led to the search for vitamins.

No one knew the heartaches this sacrifice caused Ann. In John Herbert's place, Ann raised a ne'er-do-well stepson, Jeff Todd, and a niece, Nancy Jordan. Ann's housekeeper, live together on the farm. Following graduation from college, John Herbert returns home and is stunned to find his mother a crude mountain woman but he overlooks this in gratitude for all she did for him. Ann, on the other hand, is disappointed that her son is anxious to write, instead of practice law. John Herbert tries to explain to his mother that it is just as necessary to feed the spiritual appetite as the physical. "I reckon hit's too late for me ever to rightly understand," Ann says wistfully. Diane Carroll, a young artist, who values her work above her wealth, which she keeps secret, and John Herbert become boon companions. One day, Jeff, jealous of John Herbert, tries in vain to get his stepbrother to fight. Ann tells John Herbert he will have to fight Jeff or there won't be any living for him or her. She is as puzzled by her son's ignorance of backwoods ethics as he is bewildered by her attitude. Ann hears the vacationists at the Lodge jokingly call her "Ma Cinderella" and resents their ridicule. Later, when John Herbert again refuses to fight Jeff, Ann anxiously asks, "Tell me honest, son, you ain't afeared to fight Jeff Todd, be you?" "Cause he is feared," says Jeff, and starts for John Herbert but, before he advances two steps, Ann covers him with a rifle. Diane encourages John Herbert to continue with his writing.

CHAPTER XXI

"But, Diane, the whole thing is so hopeless. It may take years for me to win a place as a writer."

"Of course it will be hard going for a while," she admitted. "Every writer has had to undergo a period of starvation. It seems to be the price writers must pay. But you'll manage somehow."

"But what about mother, Diane? I'm not worried about myself. But it is fair to her? Think of all that she has done for me. Think of the way she has worked—of the hard life she has endured all these years in order that I might grow up in an environment and with advantages which she has never known. The debt I owe her, aside from her being my mother, is more than I can ever pay. I must take care of her now, as any decent son would. I can't ask her to continue living as she is now. For Heaven knows how many years more, until I am able to earn a respectable income with my pen."

"How does your mother feel about it?" Diane asked, quietly.

"Have you talked it over with her?"

He laughed desperately. "You should have heard us this morning after you left."

"What does she think you ought to do?"

With bitter humor the last of the Haskels told her about his talk with his mother.

"Why did she ever send me away?" he concluded, hopelessly. "If she wanted me to be like these people, why didn't she keep me here in the woods and bring me up as she brought up Jeff Todd? Why did Judge Shannon let her do it? Why did she deceive me about—about things? Why did the Judge misrepresent mother to me? Could they see what was bound to happen when I found out how things really were?"

Diane asked, gravely: "Are you so sure that Judge Shannon did misrepresent your mother to you, John Herbert? I have a feeling that, somehow, in spite of appearances, she is all that the good judge picture you, and hadn't it occurred to you that your mother never meant for you ever to come back to her?"

John Herbert stared at her. "You mean that she planned for me never to see her again?"

"But what is done is done, John Herbert," Diane continued. "It is impossible for you or your mother to go back. You must see that. Your mother must see it."

He answered with gloomy humor: "Apparently the only thing that mother can see is that I must fight Jeff Todd."

"Well," murmured Diane, "she may not be so far wrong in that."

"Oh, bosh!" he ejaculated rudely. "Diane ignored the interruption. "Jeff Todd is dangerous. He means to make some trouble for you and your mother. He is eternally antagonistic to all that you are and to all that you represent. He hates your mother because she is what she is."

She smiled meaningfully. "Perhaps Jeff Todd is a symbol—a personification—of something. At any rate, I'm strongly inclined to the opinion that sooner or later you will find your mother is right when she insists that you've got to fight him."

Diane had been painting for perhaps an hour when, trying for the exact value of a bit of underbrush in deep shadow, she saw a movement of the dark-green leaves. A bird or a chipmunk, she thought, but when next she looked from her

I'd better wait a few days until I cool off a bit."

She drew closer to him. "I'm so sorry about that, John Herbert. If only there was something I could do."

"There's nothing that anyone can do, Diane. On the whole it probably is fortunate that it happened."

She looked at him questioning. "You see, Diane, it brought me to my senses. It was rather a jolt, I admit, but I needed it."

"You needed it?"

"Yes. When a fellow desires the moon it's a good thing if he can be made to realize how impossible his wish is before he lets himself go too far trying to reach it."

She turned her eyes away from something she saw in his face. "I don't think I understand," she faltered.

On the way to the Lodge, Diane looked back so often that John Herbert noticed her uneasiness and asked what was the matter.

canvass to the spot she was painting she saw distinctly a face. It was Ann Haskel.

The startled artist managed to give no sign that she had discovered the mountain woman's presence. Shifting her attentions to another part of the scene, she went about her work. But the young woman was not feeling as calm as her outward appearance indicated. A cold chill of fear crept over her. The hand which held the brush trembled. She dared not look again toward that spot in the shadow, but she could feel the mountain woman watching her. Under cover of selecting a tube of color from the box on the ground beside her, she stole a quick glance at John Herbert. He was writing industriously in a pocket notebook and did not look up.

Several minutes passed. Diane realized that for her to continue longer without revealing to the mountain woman that she was aware of the latter's presence was impossible. In spite of all her efforts she would be forced to look straight into those dark eyes which she felt staring at her, with Heaven knows what interest.

"I've finished for today," she announced, and began packing her kit. "So soon?" asked John Herbert, surprised.

Diane shrugged. "I am not getting anywhere with the darned thing. It's gone hay wire on me again."

He rose to his feet and approached the canvas on the easel.

She snatched it away. "Don't look at it, please; it's rotten. Come on, let's go."

On the way to the Lodge she looked back over her shoulder so often that John Herbert noticed her uneasiness and asked what was the matter.

With a laugh to cover her confusion she said: "It's my picture. This is my second failure, you know. I can't imagine what's wrong with me. I believe that darned place is haunted."

At the twin oaks John Herbert stopped.

"Aren't you coming on to the Lodge?" asked Diane. "We've wasted time for a swim before dinner."

He shook his head. "Not this afternoon, Diane. I don't think I could face the bunch just yet. That Cinderella joke, you know, was—Well,

"I think you do, Diane," said John Herbert gently.

It was a week later. Diane was down by the river, a quarter of a mile below the Lodge. She had stolen away without telling anyone where she was going. She wanted to be alone. But she was not working. Since that incident in the glade at the head of Shady Creek she had felt no inclination for her work, and today had left even her sketchbook at home.

The young woman had not seen John Herbert since she parted with him that afternoon in the twin oaks. But she had thought about him. She was thinking about him now. The things which he had not said but which she knew were in his heart had stirred her deeply. She understood perfectly why she had not seen him since.

Looking back now to that night which they had spent together beside their camp fire in the forest, Diane realized that even then she had been more at one with this man than with anyone she had ever known. He was not to her even then a stranger. And every day of their comradeship which followed she had felt the inevitable fruition of their friendship approaching. She had taken herself to task often for permitting this development, for she could not ignore the difficulties connected with the person of Ann Haskel. But against her will, almost, she had gone on.

That scene in the living-room of the Haskel house, and those hours which followed in the glade where she first encountered the mountain woman, had brought Diane to a still deeper understanding and a fuller appreciation of Ann Haskel's son. In his ready acknowledgment of all that he owed his mother, in his patience with her antagonism to all that was most dear to him, and in his purpose to accept and honor her in spite of what she was, the life of the Haskels had revealed a quality of manhood which could not but appeal strongly to a woman of Diane's character. With this further insight into his nature had come the realization of his deepened affection for her. He was the only person to whom John Herbert could go with his trouble. He needed her.

Little girls like an ensemble because it makes them feel grown up and, truth to tell, looks very smart. To mothers, the practical side of such an outfit has a strong appeal. Indoors the jacket may be taken off and on warm days it may be omitted altogether, whereas, when there is really chill in the air, the whole little affair gives plenty of warmth. Make it of a plaid wool or jersey with a plain bodice and it will be useful and attractive—with its little sleeves and the well-placed pleats in the skirt to give it grace.

Pattern 9111 may be ordered only in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10 requires 3 yards 36 inch fabric and 1/2 yard contrasting.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

How would you like a book of fashions designed for sun-drenched days and starlit nights? It tells you about, and has pictures of everything from a wedding dress to a garden frock. It shows you the latest fabrics, and talks wisely about beauty. In short, it's a treasure! It's the SUMMER EDITION OF THE MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK AND IT COSTS FIFTEEN CENTS. THE BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER ARE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald Pattern Department, 124 W. Main St., Circleville, O.

Ignoring Symptoms of Cancer a Common Fault

Particularly True of Cancer of Breast, Says
Authority, Stressing Value of Early Care

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

CANCER OF the breast is not common, but unfortunately it is often neglected. Too many times the victim of this disturbance consults a physician only after the disease has become deeply seated and possibly beyond cure. Not by any means is cancer incurable when recognized in its early stages. Proper measures taken then, will give complete relief in most cases. This is particularly true of cancer of the breast.

At the annual convention of the American Medical Association in Cleveland, the importance of early discovery of and attention to tumors of the breast was stressed. It was stated that if women were properly examined within a few weeks after the onset of the symptoms, the chance for the development of the disease would be materially reduced. Besides, a great deal of physical pain and mental suffering would be prevented.

Some women are aware of a disturbance in the breast yet avoid consulting a physician. They have a terrible fear of being told they have cancer; they dread the thought of an operation. This is too bad, because any small tumor of the breast is easily removed. When this is done, even if it really is cancer, complete cure is likely. If neglected too long, it may mean complete amputation of the breast and further treatment to prevent the spread of the disease.

If there is a small lump in the breast, no matter how trivial it may seem, it is imperative that you consult your doctor. Whether pain or is not present, the little swelling or lump is a warning sign. A matter of fact, in early cases of cancer of the breast there is no pain. In some cases there may be considerable swelling and the nipple may turn in. The combination is sometimes a sign of cancer.

A bloody discharge from the nipple warrants immediate attention.

Another dependable means of determining whether or not the growth is cancerous is by the removal of a small section of the tumor. This is examined under the microscope for cancer cells. If these cells are found, it shows the tumor is malignant and requires immediate surgery. If no cancer cells are present it shows the tumor is a harmless one.

Very rarely cancer strikes without warning and proceeds with great rapidity. But in most cases of cancer of the breast there are unmistakable and early signs of its existence. These signs should always be heeded. If you have the slightest doubt, I beg you to consult with your physician. Then you may be sure cancer of the breast will be recognized in its curable stage.

Anxious. Q—I am troubled with a great deal of mucus which can be easily expelled. This causes a rattling in the chest if not expelled. What would you suggest as treatment? A—This may be due to bronchitis. Have the chest examined. Try to improve your general condition. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

This is a sign of trouble in one of the ducts of the breast. Pain in the breast is not necessarily a sign of cancer. It may be due to a mild neuralgia or it may accompany the congestion which sometimes occurs before the menstrual period. It is not uncommon during the early weeks of pregnancy when changes in the breast begin to take place. Such pain often bewilders the sufferer and causes her a great deal of mental anguish.

The New Light Test

A new method for detecting cancer of the breast was demonstrated at the convention in Cleveland. It is called the "transillumination test" and has met with some success. By means of a special device a beam of light is directed through the breast. When the tissues are normal the light is transmitted equally. In certain localized disturbances there is interference with the passage of light. In cases of cancer, distribution of the light is irregular and this is said to be characteristic of tumor formation.

If these cells are found, it shows the tumor is malignant and requires immediate surgery. If no cancer cells are present it shows the tumor is a harmless one.

Peck also is skeptical regarding reciprocity treaties. At one time he was for them. But ever since Cordell Hull pulled tariff negotiations out of Peck's hands, he has been skeptical.

From the Import-Export Bank, therefore, has come strenuous though covert obstruction. The Bank even tried to hold up the Cuban Treaty at the last moment because Cuba had defaulted on loans to the Chase National Bank.

Invisible Inertia

Even within the State Department, however, the invisible hand of inertia has seized upon tariff negotiations.

To push them an elaborate machinery was created, at its head is the "Executive Committee on Commercial Policy" chairmanned by Hull.

Below it is the "Inter-Departmental Committee for Foreign Trade Agreements", chairmanned by Henry H. Grady, tariff expert especially brought from San Francisco.

Below this are the "Country Committees", set up to negotiate treaties with each country. On them are representatives of the Departments of State, Commerce, Agriculture and the Tariff Commission. The latter figures out concessions to be given to foreign countries by the United States, while the Commerce Department figures out concessions to be asked.

Questions and Answers

What is the correct baking temperature for baking angel food or sponge cakes?

Authorities differ as to the exact degree of heat required, but the variation is not great. One recommends 275 to 300 degrees for the first 45 minutes of baking and an increase of 25 degrees in temperature the last 15 minutes. Another standard that is widely accepted, is a temperature of 325 degrees for the entire hour of baking. We now believe that angel food cakes are improved by placing them in a preheated oven, rather than starting them as our grandmothers did, in a cold oven.

How many cups of coffee can be made from one pound of coffee? And how much tea is required for serving iced tea to sixty persons?

One pound of coffee will make 40 cups of the beverage. For serving 60 persons with iced tea, 1 1/2 pound of tea is used in 3 1/2 gallons of boiling water.

Is it true that some foods are more subject to producing gas in the stomach or alimentary canal than others, and if so, would you list them?

All these foods may not have the same degree of gas production in the stomach or alimentary canal, but the foods capable of producing flatulence are as follows: soft drinks, highly sweetened beverages, all highly fermented cheese, apples, cantaloupe, raisins, watermelon, some meat broths, candy, sugar, jam, beans, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cucumbers, garlic, onions, peas, peppers, radishes, turnips, and nuts. Other substances that have this effect are condiments, extremely hot or cold foods, excessively salted foods and cold fried foods.

Is it possible to make an ice in an automatic refrigerator without it having lungs of ice in it? Could you recommend a good recipe?

The success of freezing a smooth ice depends on the recipe, the method of freezing and the degree of cold you can obtain with your refrigerator. If your refrigerator has a cold control on it, turn the control to the coldest point about 1/2 hour before putting the dessert in to freeze. Leave the control there until the dessert has frozen as firmly as you want it to be, then return it to the normal position on the dial, and hold the dessert at that temperature until time for serving.

Here is a recipe for Pineapple Ice that is sure to give good results.

Pineapple Ice
1 or 2 eggs whites
1 qt. milk
2 C. sugar
1 C. crushed pineapple, drained
1 1/2 lemon
1 orange

Scald milk, add sugar, and let cool. Add pineapple and beaten egg whites. Put in tray and when it starts to freeze to mush, mix orange and lemon juice in and freeze for 3 or 4 hours. This quantity will serve 12.

Peach Season Dessert

Peach Schaum Torte, a meringue dessert, is delicious to serve anytime. Let's try it soon!

4 egg whites
1 C. granulated sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. vinegar
Sliced peaches, and whipped cream

Beat eggs with a wire whisk until stiff, then add very gradually 1/2 of the sugar and continue beating until mixture will hold its shape; add remaining sugar, then fold in remaining sugar. Form in individual kisses, or pour into a spring mold. Bake 1 hour more, at 300 degrees. Fill with sliced peaches and top with whipped cream or ice cream.

MOVIES

AT THE GRAND

"Registered Nurse," The First National picture, which comes to the Grand Theatre on Wednesday, is said to be a romantic drama of hospital life with an entirely new twist. Based on the story by Florence Johns and Wilton Lackaye, Jr., it deals with the love life of the nurses and doctors in a great metropolitan hospital rather than with the more sombre or technical side of such an institution.

Only two patients come prominently into the picture and these supply the laughable incidents in a story that leans more to thrilling melodrama than to comedy. One of these is a promoter of wrestling bouts and the other the keeper of a disorderly place, each of whom is taken to the hospital against his will after having been battered up in a free for all fight.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Sylvia Sidney, figuratively speaking, has emerged from the cocoon and now is a butterfly.

"Thirty-Day Princess," her new Paramount film, now showing at the Cliftona Theatre, with Cary Grant as her leading man, gives Sylvia more than thirty changes of modern, fascinating clothes which fairly scream with luxurious newness.

Usually her screen wardrobe consists of prison uniforms, drab dancing girl's outfits, drab cheap clothes of a poorer class of working girl; but here in "Thirty-Day Princess," for the first time in her screen career, she abounds in exotic hostess gowns, afternoon frocks, rich dinner gowns and luxurious evening gowns, with smart beautiful accessories and jewels.

Since 1929 per capita consumption of milk and cream in cities and towns declined about 5 per cent. Consumption is now near 39 pounds of milk a year.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

ABOUT ASHVILLE BONDS

Editor Herald:—ASHVILLE, Aug. 28.—When 366 out of a possible 600 voters go and cast their ballots at a primary election there is a reason. This is just what happened at the Asheville election on the seven question 14 inst., and the encouraging feature was that 326 were favorable, while only 40 could be mustered against the project. Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away we are inclined to the opinion, that at no time during the campaign was the question in danger of defeat. The opposition resulted largely from a misunderstanding, and this once straightened out some of the most outspoken opponents changed their minds and supported the issue.

As a general proposition we have always opposed bond issues, unless in case of extreme necessity. We need not argue that residence in a village free from bonded indebtedness is beyond ability to pay. Then on the other hand when absolute necessities can be obtained on such liberal terms as offered by the federal government it is only the part of wisdom to incur a reasonable amount of future obligations, especially when the projects in question enhance the value of our property, place us in line for certain industries and last, but not least enable us to correct an abuse that has been allowed to exist for many years and thus safeguard the health of the village.

That the proposed improvements—water works and sanitary sewers in which the National government agree to give us an outright grant of 30 per cent of the costs of the projects are a necessity in any community, is not debatable. As to the costs, the farmer is a utility and will not add one penny of costs to our citizens, only in so far as they avail themselves of the use of water, and yet they know the advantages of fire protection and reduced insurance rates. It is argued, and rightly so, that the rates are too high; but these were established by the government and we can't change them now. However the quickest way to reduce rates is to have the greatest number of users when the system is placed in operation. Just as soon as we can demonstrate our ability to raise enough revenue from the sale of water to pay overhead expenses, interest and retire bonds when due, then and not before will the Trustees of the Board of Affairs be able to reduce rates. And remember this you are paying for your own plant when you meet your water rentals and each bond you retire reduces the debt and brings you nearer the time when you will have a utility that will afford a safe source of revenue to assist in meeting our future taxation needs.

Remember the only security back of Asheville's water works project is a lien on the lands and plant; and upon its future success depends the aid, both moral and financial, you may be able to give it.

By an overwhelming vote of our citizens the sewers are a village project and the costs of construction will be raised by taxation outside the 10-mill levy, and as you are aware have been certified by Auditor White to be $170 per $1000 valuation of the tax duplicate. The cost is in no way a burden.
